

TARA'S JOURNEY

A SHOW OF PAINTINGS

Tara Pain Rowlands was a respected graphic designer working for national and international clients from her Collingwood home. In 2015 she was diagnosed with ovarian cancer and fought a three year battle with the horrible disease. In 2017 she began painting and was excited each day in the early hours to go to her studio and explore the images from her dreams in various media. In that final ten months she produced a group of paintings which are to be shown at
